THE WEATHER IS PLEASANT

Maximum Yesterday 82 Degrees, With Rainfall of Two Inches.

With a rainfall of nearly two inches yesterday, this section of the state has now received the average amount of rain due for this far in the year. The rain began early yesterday morning and by noon registered 1.67 inches at the weather bureau station. The early afternoon was pleasant but another shower fell in the evening and increased the total amount for the day by considerable. Indications point to a continuance of the showery weather today. Sailors reported yesterday that rough weather was experienced outside of the bay and an unusually high tide gave grounds for fears of a storm late in the afternoon. The highest temperature recorded yesterday was 82 degrees at 4:50 p. m. and the lowest 72 degrees at 8:50 a. m. The normal for the day is 82, the maximum last year being 86 and the minimum 71. The average maximum for the day is 88, and the average minimum 75.

CONDUCTOR WILSON HAS RESIGNED

Leaves L. & N. After Service of About Seventeen Years.

IMPAIRED HEALTH THE CAUSE OF THE RESIGNATION—HE HAS NOT BEEN IN ACTIVE SERVICE FOR SEVERAL MONTHS.

Conductor E. Meade Wilson, who for many years has been a familiar figure on passenger trains running in and out of Pensacola, and who is well known and liked by the traveling public, has tendered his resignation as conductor on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad. The resignation was tendered Saturday and became effective on that date.

The cause of Conductor Wilson resigning his position is impaired health. For seven or eight months his health has been such that he was unable to be on duty only occasionally. He finally concluded that the work was too heavy for him, and sent in his resignation. After recuperating for a short time he will engage in other business in this city.

Conductor Wilson was one of the oldest conductors in the service of the Louisville & Nashville, having been in the service regularly for about seventeen years. Last year he was in several wrecks, and was injured in some of them. About this time that his health began to decline, and caused him to temporarily leave his position for several months.

Mr. Wilson is as popular among the railroad employees as he is with the traveling public, and has served for a number of years as a member of the general Board of the Order of Railway Conductors.

MADE LONG TRAMP HERE

Woman Claims That She Accomplished This Feat.

Now in Jail.

Nellie Hale, a woman who is held at the police station upon the charge of being dangerous and suspicious, claims to have walked from Chicago to Pensacola, with the exception of a ride from Milton in order to cross Escambia bay. Shortly after her arrival in this city, she was taken into custody by Officer Simpson, being found on Tarragona street at a late hour and apparently without any place to spend the night.

Dressed in a shabby dress, with an old cloak thrown over her shoulders, a wide brim straw hat on her head, and with face and hands tanned from the sun, the woman presented anything but an inviting appearance when she landed at the police station.

"I started from Chicago four months ago," said the woman, "and have been walking ever since. At first I went a good clip, and made about 24 miles a day, but I soon got tired and cut it down to 15 miles. During the past month or two I walked only about 10 miles each day. I started for Pensacola and determined to get here."

"Oh, yes, I am here, but in jail, and I don't think I will like Pensacola. I may, though. If I don't, I guess I can keep walking."

"Where do I sleep at night?" she replied to a query, "why, in the woods, or in any old house that might happen to be along the route. It's no use of being afraid, and I got along all right, except occasionally a tramp would bump me for a nickel for tobacco."

"But say, though, I always read about the 'Kentucky Colonels' and how nice they treated a lady. Why, I walked all the way through Kentucky and not one of those colonels offered to give me a ride. And in some of those small towns you just ought to see the way they would get around me, all staring as if I was a whole side show. Some people would almost break their windows so they could take a look at me. At one place, a newspaper reporter wrote me up about a whole column."

"Why did I leave Chicago? Why, I wanted to see the south, and see if the people down here kick like they do up there. They have taken everything but my education, but they can't take that," she concluded.

NEW GROUNDS OF OPPOSITION

A Technical Constitutional Corporation Lawsuit in Tennessee.

PLEAD THE NEW CORPORATION LAW IS A POLICE REGULATION IN ESSENCE, AND IN EFFECT THEREFORE A PIECE OF CLASS LEGISLATION AND THEREFORE NULL AND VOID.

By Associated Press.
Nashville, Tenn., July 29.—A bill has been filed in the chancery court here by the solicitor for twenty-four foreign insurance companies, attacking the constitutionality of the new corporation law on an entirely new ground, not heretofore raised by any complainant.

These companies insist that the new law compelling corporations to file certain information with the secretary of the state of Tennessee, and to pay certain fees based on the amount of capital stock, is a police regulation, its purpose being to compel the companies to do a certain thing, and for this reason the attempt of the act to make a classification among the companies in the amount of fees exacted is a class legislation.

The bill prays that the corporation law complained of, known as Chapter 434 of the acts of 1907, be declared unconstitutional, that the complainants be exempted from paying these taxes and that they recover taxes already paid.

NEW CRUISER IS LAUNCHED

Scout Ship Salem, Which is Expected to Make a World Beater.

A new type of war vessel, and one that is expected to add greatly to the efficiency of the navy in time of war, was launched at Quincy, Mass., Saturday from the yards of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company. The vessel is the scout cruiser Salem, whose duty it will be in time of war to look for and report movements of an enemy.

The Salem is to have a speed of twenty-four knots, greater than any other cruiser in the navy. Several scout boats now being built for the British navy are to have slightly greater speed, but the American scout is expected to maintain her gait in any sort of weather, and will have twice the coal capacity of the British ships, thus giving her a much greater radius of action.

No other vessel in the navy has as high a free board as the Salem. This insured good sea-going qualities, gives stability and provides a safe and dry vessel under all weather conditions.

Play it Up, Spend Money on Advertising it, Advises Mr. C. C. Packard.

THINKS THE MONEY SPENT ON CARNIVAL COULD BE MUCH MORE PROFITABLY EXPENDED IN ADVERTISING AWAY FROM HERE THE FACT OF FREEDOM FROM THE MARSHES AROUND OTHER GULF COAST CITIES.

"The Journal is to be congratulated upon its issue of recent date on West Florida," said C. C. Packard, editor of the North and South, to a Journal representative. "I was greatly impressed with the extended reference you had Sunday morning touching Holmes county and its developments and possibilities."

"I am personally familiar with much of the country on which you touched," continued Mr. Packard, "having, so to speak, gone over it 'behind the plow' during the past half dozen years. No doubt much that you printed was absolutely new to the great majority of your readers, and it is in this sense of extending the acquaintance and cementing the interest of the people of the great territory over which your circulation extends that I congratulate you."

"This is a great work you have begun and cannot, in my judgment fail to be of real advantage to your entire constituency. For the more widely you can celebrate the advantages of Holmes, or Walton or Jackson county—or indeed of any county within the purview of your influence—and the more closely you can ally them with Pensacola and Pensacola with them, the better conditions are you promoting and the better are you serving the public."

"As to Pensacola and my own work. We are now engaged in gathering data, making photographs and, in general, compiling matter which will comprise the next issue of my paper, which is slated to cover the territory between Flomaton and River Junction. We aim, as you know, to treat of the several sections of which we write as though our matter were to appear in any of the standard publications of the land; to supply interesting facts and half tones—so far as we can secure photographs, for making which my assistant and myself carry cameras—regarding the soils, seasons, climate, crops, social conditions, developments, opportunities and accomplished facts as to money crops made, to the end that when copies of our work fall into the hands of an interested reader north of the Ohio river, who wishes reliable and accurate information regarding this Coast Country, he will find such presentation therein."

We do not claim to have made a discovery in what we are planning, but I confidently believe when we shall have completed the issue that you will agree that we have done a creditable job of advertising for your beautiful city. Here is the line along which we are working. This city has always been noted for its fine harbor. Your '33 feet over the bar' has long been a slogan, heralded far and wide. The fact that you have room for the combined gavies of the world to safely anchor is a matter of common information; that Pensacola Bay vies successfully (barring the mountains the other enjoys) with that of Venice, is admitted by those familiar with both. But how few, even of your own people, are aware that your city lies on a succession of elevations, which afford most attractive residence places; that you have hill after hill—even as Rome was built on Seven hills—from the summits of which not only is good drainage supplied, but also a constant prevalence of the glorious gulf breezes which here abound, and also, in many cases a splendid view of your incomparably attractive bay.

Pensacola's Altitude.
"The New Orleans Mardi Gras is the topic which most impresses the people of the north. This is what attracts thousands of tourists each winter to that city. Suppose 10,000 of them go to New Orleans by the Louisville & Nashville road and its feeders. Say these are all visiting the Coast Country for the first time. Leaving Flomaton they swing on west, dip below Bay Minette, in to the Tanapa bottoms, and skirt low-lying Mobile; then spin through the slightly undulating country which lies directly west of that city after passing about half of which between Mobile and Scranton they enter an almost flat region which continues until they cross Bay St. Louis, after across tracks, either supported over the water by piles, or through the marshes on made ground. Do you suppose that one per cent of that 10,000 visit Pensacola? What of the remaining 9,900? It is not perfectly obvious that they return to the north, believing that your city is as the others? That they think of Pensacola as lying level with the waters of the gulf; a city of marshes, swamps and bays?"

"Here we believe lies your most valuable possession, your strongest claim of vantage, your greatest value. Just consider: 'Pensacola, a city of beautiful homes; 'Pensacola, the City of Hills! 'Pensacola, and its Altitude. Are not these slogans of immense value?"

A Needless Expenditure.
"Suppose your good people awoke to the fact that it does not add one iota to their commercial or industrial prosperity to have an annual Mardi Gras which, at least must lag vastly behind New Orleans, and devote such sums as they annually devote to cheap goats, horses, etc., to wise and valid advertising of the indisputable fact that Pensacola lies, far and away, high and dry as compared with any other gulf coast point. Is it not plain that you would get values running into the hundreds of thousands of dollars where you now only attain a vast condition of discomfort through ruffians tossing confetti or rudely jostling unprotected girls and women?"

"I confidently believe that in this matter of altitude, you of Pensacola have a most valuable asset, and that in its wise and judicious exploitation rests immediate advantage and that it will serve you far more valuably than all other features you may adduce."

"Do not mean by this that you should plan an assault on your sister cities and communities. Each has its value and the whole must rise and prosper as one. The man with a hammer has outlived his usefulness in this region, long since. But it seems to me perfectly plain that we will be able to impress the advantages of this city on the minds of our northern readers much more vividly and thus enormously to your local advantage if we can succeed, even in a small way and merely as a beginning, in calling attention to the accepted fact that you have altitude, that your residence north is 100 feet or more above the level of Pensacola bay."

STORY GIRL LEAVES FOR A NEW HOME

Will Be Cared for in House of Good Shepherd in New Orleans.

VISITED HER CHILD JUST BEFORE LEAVING FOR NEW ORLEANS IN COMPANY WITH MRS. LEARY BAGUS—WAS IN GOOD SPIRITS.

Annie Story, the eighteen-year-old girl, who created somewhat of a sensation last week by requesting that she be sent to an insane asylum, has at last found a good home. She left last night in company with Mrs. Mary Bagus for New Orleans, where she will enter the House of the Good Shepherd in that city, where she will make her future home.

Father Fullerton yesterday morning notified Mayor Goodman that the mother superior of the home had given permission for the girl to enter the place, and immediately arrangements were made to send her there. Mrs. Bagus was employed to accompany the girl to New Orleans, and last night they left the city on the 10 o'clock train.

The girl, who has been at the hospital since last week, was visited early in the night by Captain Daw, who told her that she was to leave for New Orleans. At first she did not take kindly to the idea, but later stated that she was willing and ready to go. After reaching this determination, she asked to see her child before leaving, and this request being granted, she spent over an hour with the little one at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nordstrom on Intendencia street.

The girl, when she boarded the train, seemed to be delighted that she was to go to New Orleans and enter the House of the Good Shepherd, and stated that she believed she would be entirely satisfied with her new home.

HE RECEIVED SHOT IN EYE

Negro Who Fired First Gets Worst of Trouble and Lands In Jail.

Pearce Burns, colored, was brought her yesterday from the Barrinau turpentine camp in the northwestern section of the county, suffering from a gunshot wound in the eye. He was placed in the county jail after treatment. It is possible that the eye will have to be removed, as one or more of the shot entered it, a shot gun having been used by the negro who inflicted the injury.

According to statements made by Burns, he was fired upon Saturday night, while he was seated in his house, by John Green, another employee of the camp. Burns says he was not injured by the first charge, and grasping a revolver he went to the window and fired upon Green, but missed him. It was then that Green fired the other charge of the shot gun, several of the small shot striking Burns, and one or two entering the left eye.

Owing to the telephone wires being down, the sheriff did not learn of the shooting until yesterday, when Burns was brought to the city. Green made his escape immediately after the shooting.
